MIS Public Open Dialogues

Connective series fostering open dialogues and reciprocal knowledge transfer between academics, practitioners, and the public.

In the third “MIS Public Open Dialogues” session, we will focus on the issue of cultural accessibility and participation. In particular, the emphasis will be on sharing experiences from the practice of social activities that bring together people in the context of cultural diversity and foster inclusion. Three experts from the field of intercultural work will discuss factors that facilitate participation, and barriers that prevent access to cultural and social development will be deconstructed.

NB: Presentations and discussions will be in French
